

Access to Water and Sanitation: Developments in International Water Law and Human Rights Law

Centre for Environmental Strategy and School of Law Seminar Series

Speaker:

Professor Attila Tanzi

Professor of International Law, School of Law, University of Bologna, Italy

Date of the seminar:

Tuesday 29 September 2009, 1pm - 2pm

Venue: 14 MS 01

This seminar is one of the activities that the Environmental Regulatory Research Group (ERRG) is organising throughout the University of Surrey on Tuesday 29 and Wednesday 30 September 2009 in concomitance with the first meeting of the project "The Environmental Protection of the Guarani Aquifer: A Legal Perspective". These activities will see project members coming from leading European and UK institutions giving presentations on a number of highly topical water related topics at the School of Law, at the Centre for Environmental Strategy (CES) and before the Surrey Water Research Group (SWRG).

The Environmental Protection of the Guarani Aquifer: A Legal Perspective

ERRG has been awarded a two year EPSRC Knowledge Transfership Fellowship from the Surrey Water Research Group. The project will assess the current negotiations on the legal regulation of one of the world's largest groundwater reservoirs. At the same time it will strengthen a network of international researchers who will develop the University of Surrey Centre of Excellence on Aquifers.

Project members

- Mr Francesco Sindico, School of Law, University of Surrey
- Mrs María Querol, Private international water law consultant, Buenos Aires, Argentina
- Prof. Maria Gavouneli, Faculty of Law, University of Athens, Greece
- Miss Kerstin Mechlem, Ulster University, Belfast, Transitional Justice Institute
- Prof. Attila Tanzi, Faculty of Law, University of Bologna, Italy
- Miss Annabel Symington, Freelance Journalist, London, UK

Activities

Tuesday 29 September, 1pm – 2pm CES/School of Law Seminar

Professor Attila Tanzi, Professor of International Law, School of Law, University of Bologna, Italy

Access to Water and Sanitation:

Developments in International Water Law and Human Rights Law

Wednesday 30 September, 1pm – 3pm Surrey Water Research Group meeting

Mr Francesco Sindico, Lecturer, School of Law and ERRG Deputy Director, University of Surrey

“An Introduction to the project The Environmental Protection of the Guarani Aquifer: A Legal Perspective”

Miss Kerstin Mechlem, Lecturer, Ulster University, Belfast, Transitional Justice Institute

“The regulation of transboundary aquifers in international law”

Contact

Mr Francesco Sindico

f.sindico@surrey.ac.uk

www.surrey.ac.uk/errg